FALL SEMESTER

Early in September, the summer which had cast us upon the waters of fun and frolic reeled us back in to Bates, bringing with us more stuff crammed in boxes, trunks, and suitcases than we ever would have thought we owned. The first arrivals were the sports teams, and the RC's and JA's, immediately followed by 418 new faces belonging to freshmen. Those first few days were dedicated to orientation, meeting new people and preparing for the onslaught of upper-classmen and hard work just around the corner. Various activities were planned, including convocation, the Lake Auburn cookout, and a discussion of The Culture of Narcissism which all supposedly had read.

All too soon, Sept. 7 arrived, and before we knew it, classes had started and summer was behind us. The social year began with a bang, as Lines played the freshman mixer and all manner of Batesies paraded to the Goose, the Station, and the Cage to pay early respects. The Film Board treated us to The Deer Hunter, kicking off another year of fine movie entertainment. The Bates Invitational women's cross-country race opened the fall sports season, and frosh Rebecca Watt set a new college women's record for the 5000-meter run. Campus groups recruited new blood to bolster their programs, and so did the Red Cross with its first blood drive.

As Sandra Day O'Connor prepared to become a Supreme Court Justice, Bates heated up over tenure and a theme house proposal, introduced at the Sugarloaf Conference . . . A plan was okayed to put pinball and video games in Chase Hall — goodbye, quarters — and the administration announced its intention to renovate Rand Hall . . . Women's field hockey got off to a rousing start . . . Pianist Frank Glazer, Bates' artist-in-residence, started off the noonday concert series.

September 25th heralded the latest Back-to Bates weekend, and we welcomed many familiar faces to take part in the festivities. The football team provided us with an exciting 14-0 shellacking of Amherst; Larry DiGiammarino opened his assault on Bates receiving records. The Robinson Players entertained us with "The Village Wooing," by G. B. Shaw, and "Night," by Harold Pinter . . . The fall weekend dance had us gyrating to the rhythms of the Cardiac Kids . . . Despite chilly weather, the Outing Club-sponsored clambake was a fitting climax to te weekend.

The debate over theme houses became front-page news as President Reynolds first had reservations, then supported the idea . . . Bates and the world were shaken by the assassination of Anwar Sadat . . . Closer to home, the men's soccer team shut out MIT 1-0 in what would be their only victory of the season . . . Some students participated in an abortion rally in Auburn, organized by the twin cities' NOW chapter . . . Heat on the housing coordinator increased as charges of incompetence were leveled, and disappointed residents clamored for better rooming situations . . . Prof. James Leamon opened the "Women and Work" lecture series, and Dr. Charles Hummel presented "Science and Religion" in the Thomas E. Staley lecture. . . Other discussions include a review of Prof. Jacob Neusner's "Indictment of Students" . . . Dr. Stephen Whitfield spoke on "Reflections on Jewish Humor" . . . Once again the German Club welcomed October with a rollicking Oktoberfest in Fiske Lounge . . . Various faculty and students performed music from "Dr. Faustus Lights the Lights" in a noonday concert . . . Anthony di Bonaventura, pianist, launched the Bates Concert-Lecture Series with an outstanding performance; later in the week, the comedy team of Abrams and Anderson had students in Chase Hall holding their sides.

As October progressed, the Afro-Am Society gave us yet another sensational Triad; we boogied until almost dawn to the fine music provided . . . The Ambassadors gave us a blues concert in the chapel . . . Apathy appeared in the papers again as the campus version of Sugarloaf fizzled for lack of interest and the Gay-Straight Alliance announced its intention to disband . . . Bates hired Charles V. Carnegie for the second semester — the only black faculty member . . . Soap operas were in the spotlight, as the Student printed a controversial article, and addicts campus-wide tuned in to see Luke and Laura battle a weather machine on "General Hospital" . . . Charles Dodge presented computer-generated music in the chapel . . . Rich Emrich, '84, on violin and Prof. Marion Anderson on piano serenaded us with sonatas by Beethoven and Schubert, while Ed O'Neil, '82, played piano in the Café des Arts that week.

Mid-term fever struck, and we realized that learning half-a-semester's facts in one night was just as difficult as prying ourselves away from the World Series — the Dodgers surprised the Yankees this year.

All-nighters became the norm . . . Into this sleepless void stepped our parents, bringing T.L.C., cookies, and a chance to eat out . . . Though the grounds were wet, the football team provided us with a thrilling 15-11 Parents' Weekend victory over #1-ranked WPI, and the volleyball team hosted a tournament in which the 'Cats placed 3d . . . The Merimanders and the Early Music group gave us musical interludes . . . Other cultural activities included Prof. John Strong's discussion of his short term in India, and Prof. George Fetter's report on his unit's trip to the People's Republic of China . . . The Theater Department left us all rolling in the aisles with a superb rendition of George Feydeau's farce "A Flea in Her Ear" . . . Treat Gallery opened its doors to parents and others with a new show of the work of Douglass Ross, Lawson Smith, and Laurie Kaplowitz.

The administration, despite overwhelming student disapprobation, okayed the theme house proposal . . . Bates College Republicans co-sponsored a nuclear power debate between two Westinghouse spokesmen, and Prof. Eric Wollman and debate coach Mike Laurence, '81 . . . WRJR officially changed its call letters to WRBC, and in further media news, NBC-TV announced that Bates alumnus Bryant Gumbel, '70, would leave sportscasting to become host of "The Today Show" . . . Prof. Bob Thomas performed "Sea Shanties" on the dulcimer for the noonday concert of October 27th . . . Steve Whitaker, '84, and John Chamberlain, '82, won the "most exquisite room" contest . . . Treat Gallery housed a different kind of art — Prof. Robert Chute read his own poetry there . . . The Seniors celebrated 200 days until graduation with a happy hour in Chase Lounge.

Halloween arrived, and the popular Tom Rush played a concert in the chapel . . . There were many costume dances featuring creatures from the scary to the bizarre . . . Fascinating foods from the four corners of the world appeared in Chase Lounge at the International Dinner . . . Tony Scilipoti, Mary Hunter, and Delmar Small performed the noonday concert of November 3 . . . The Chapel Board's luncheon seminar featured Prof. Teddy Walther, who spoke on "Reaganomics" . . . A new procedure for limited enrollment courses left many students standing in line for hours, in hopes of getting the course(s) of their wishes . . . Once again, CHC planned the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance, amid the annual numerous objections . . . Professors Bob Thomas and Lou Pitelka lectured on Australia and New Zealand.

Café des Arts kicked off the first weekend of November, featuring music performed by Jeff Roy, Alden Gibbs, Mark Reese, and Blair Hundertmark . . . Bates students arrived in droves at Bowdoin for the football game, drawing the attention of Bowdoin Security and Brunswick Police; the Brunswick Fire Department showed up to douse the barbeques already smoldering in the rain . . . Mutual animosity resulted in Batesies crashing the gates on their way to the standes and the arrest of one. The Bobcats captured the CBB title, pummeling the Polar Bears 23-13 . . . That night the Zaitchik Brothers drew a tremendous crowd for Sadie . . .

The alternative dance — a sixties revival — also proved successful.

Seniors Colleen Collins, Betsy Boynton, Dot Donovan, Scott Hoyt, Melinda Wagner, and Doug White were named to Phi Beta Kappa . . . The Concert-Lecture Series continued with Miriam Fried and Garrick Ohlsson in a joint recital.

To benefit the Geoffrey Law Scholarship Fund, the Triangle Theatre Company performed music and poetry . . . The Student-Faculty Lecture Series opened with the Prof. Garold Thumm discussing the "Rightest Movement." 1981 grad Floyd Rutherford followed, describing the growth of issue-oriented politics. Prof. Lewis Turlish told his audience that Lionel Trilling had been caught between a conservative lifestyle and a liberal ideology. Closing the series,Prof. Liz Tobin titled her talk "Political Radicalism in the 1960s, or Why I Marched on Washington."

The Bates Orchestra performed on November 15 . . . The Early Music Group headlined the noonday concert . . . Thanksgiving break finally arrived to give us a much-desired and well-deserved rest. The turkey probably enjoyed it less . . . During the vacation, Prof. Liz Francis appeared on an episode of "Nova."

We returned to Bates on November 30 with full stomachs and empty heads, secure in the knowledge that we had but three more weeks in the semester . . . The first snowstorm of the winter hit campus . . . The Modern Dance Company presented "Dances for Don and Bill," an informal concert . . . We saw the debut of an original play, "Degrees," written by Griff Braley, '83, and directed by Bill Tucker, '82 . . . The Bates College Choir with help from the Portland Symphony Orchestra, performed Handel's "Messiah" . . . The Bates Arts Society provided us with another successful Beaux Arts Ball.

Larry DiGiammarino continued to rack up awards for his football prowess . . . The Bobcat hoopsters, however, fared less well: the men's team dropped their first five games, while the women won only one of four . . . Both track squads got their seasons underway . . . The Boston Globe's self-parody pitted Bates against Bowdoin in events such as bear-skinning and snow shoveling; Bates outscored its rivals 7-5 . . . Alumnus and former Secretary of State Edmund Muskie spoke for 2½ hours in Chase Lounge on various U.S. and world issues . . . Exiled Ed Salvadoran priest Father Jesus Nieto talked of his country's problems and his own experinces . . . Dick Gregory, political activist and comedian, captivated us with his criticism of the government and his often outrageous assertions . . . Meanwhile, yet another Political Science poll found Bates students "politically inactive." . . . Prof. Mark Semon discussed "Einstein's Views on Science and Religion" at a luncheon Seminar.

The final noonday concert of 1981 featured Melissa Hibbert, '84, playing works for Czerny, Bach, and Fauré . . . A Café des Arts brought us a mime performance by Claire Sikaryak, and the Page-Parker-Smith Social Committee urged us to relax a little before finals; they sponsored a semi-formal dance and coffeehouse . . . The Bates Lempoon took on Bowdoin College and Brunswick Police, theme living, Bates apathy, the College Republicans, theme living, Sadie, Celeste Branham (a.k.a. Celestial Branmuffin), and especially theme living . . . The imposition of martial law in Poland added a somber note to the normal holiday cheer . . . The Week of Dread burst upon us — final exams temporarily forced panic and insanity to be the norm on campus. We survived, however, to head home for a real vacation, with half of the 1981-82 school year behind us.

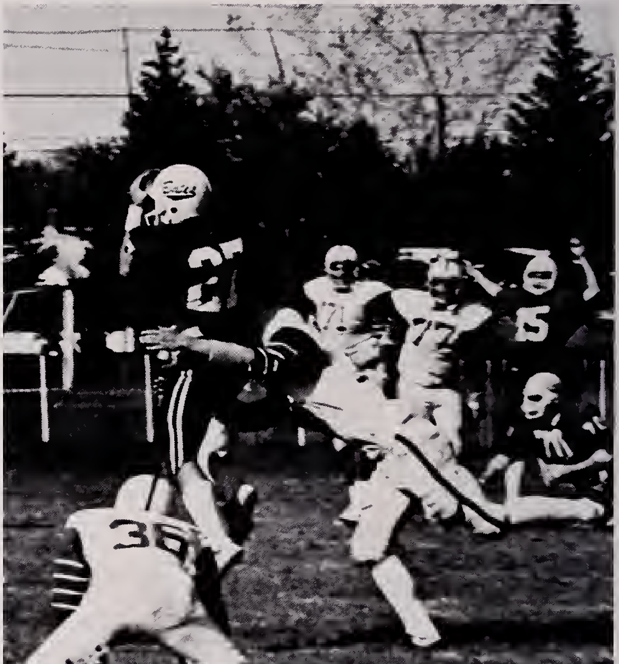
FIELD HOCKEY

Season records never seem to be a true estimation of a team's success, as is the case for the 1981 Bates Women's Field Hockey Team. Boasting a winning record of 7-3-5, Coach Sherry Yakawonis and the "1981 Touring Squad" were winners in many different senses. The Middlebury and Bowdoin games are good examples in which the team gave their all and played well. Winning the CBB championship was also a significant achievement of the season. This year marked the first, in a while, in which there was a backbone of strong senior players, including captain Julie Thorton, who provided a great deal of leadership both on and off the field.

Selected for the Northeast Squad were Carolyn Campbell, '83, Tracey Dolan, '83, Laurie Sevigny, '83, Melissa Chace, '82, and Janet Bursaw, '83. Bursaw also traveled to Florida for the Nationals where she played for the Northeast #3 team. It was, in every respect, a successful season. Oooh — goodbye Purdue!



FOOTBALL

The 1981 season was one of the finest ever at Bates, highlighted by a 5-game winning streak. The team beat undefeated Wesleyan and WPI on successive weeks and went on to win the CBB championship. The only losses were to Middlebury and Tufts.

Larry DiGiammarino, '82, received the Golden Helmet Award for Outstanding Offensive Player in Divisions II and III in New England and the Bates MVP award for offense. The defensive MVP was Rich Munson, '82, and the Achievement Awards went to quarterback Dick Lagg, '82, and safety Chris Flaherty, '82. The Bobcats, captained by Pete McEvilly, '82, completed the season ranked third in New England Division III with a 6-2 record.

WOMEN'S SOCCER

September practice brought together a strong group of returning players and a talented freshman class. For the Women's Soccer team, improving on last year's 1-9 record was to be an easy task. The payoffs for a year's learning were defeats of Colby-Sawyer, Wheaton, and Colby (twice).

Senior forward Laura Radack became Bates' all-time scoring leader, netting a game-winning goal against Colby. Joining Radack on the All-New England and All-East ballots were junior halfback Sarah Eusden. Eusden's consistently strong play engineered a short-passing attack from the midfield. Freshman fullbacks Colleen Martin and Karla Austen helped senior goalkeeper Kris Pearson convert danger in the backfield to Bobcat possession.

Though losing the valued leadership of senior captains Dorothy Alpert, Cathy Campos, and Laura Radack, the Women's Soccer team looks forward to a bright future. Playing well against teams ranked both regionally and nationally has given the team the seasoning for a fine performance next year.

Front Row: C. Campos, L. Radack, D. Alpert (captains). Second Row: D. Goldman, M. Nyhan, S. Eusden, C. Martin, K. Coombs, K. Heald, K. Rose, J. DePanfilis. Third Row: B. Goodbody, J. MEN'S SOCCER

The 1981 Men's Soccer Team concluded their season with a 1-9-2 record. However, this does not indicate the high level of determination displayed by each member of the team. The team was led by seniors Brian O'Donnell (co-capt.), Andy Aceto (co-capt.), Nick Kent, Jim Merrill and by CBB All-Stars, Bill Hunt '84 and Michael Eisenfeld '85. Playing against the likes of 3-time national champion Babson, national finalist Brandeis and NAIA power U.S.M., the Bobcats lost four 1-0 games and their character was severely tested. However, with the support of two outstanding goalies, Rob Hodes '83 and Thomas McQuillan '85, the Bobcats' defense remains sound while the scoring attack will be uplifted by the seasoning of Coach Jeff Gettler's young squad. All in all, the '82 season seems much brighter for the Bates Bobcats.

Front Row: M. Eisenfeld, A. Aceto (capt.), B. O'Donnell (capt.)., T. McInerney, E. Cushing. Middle Row: C. Burns, P. Slovenski, E. Bondy, K. Downie, S. Kutenplon, M. Merrill.

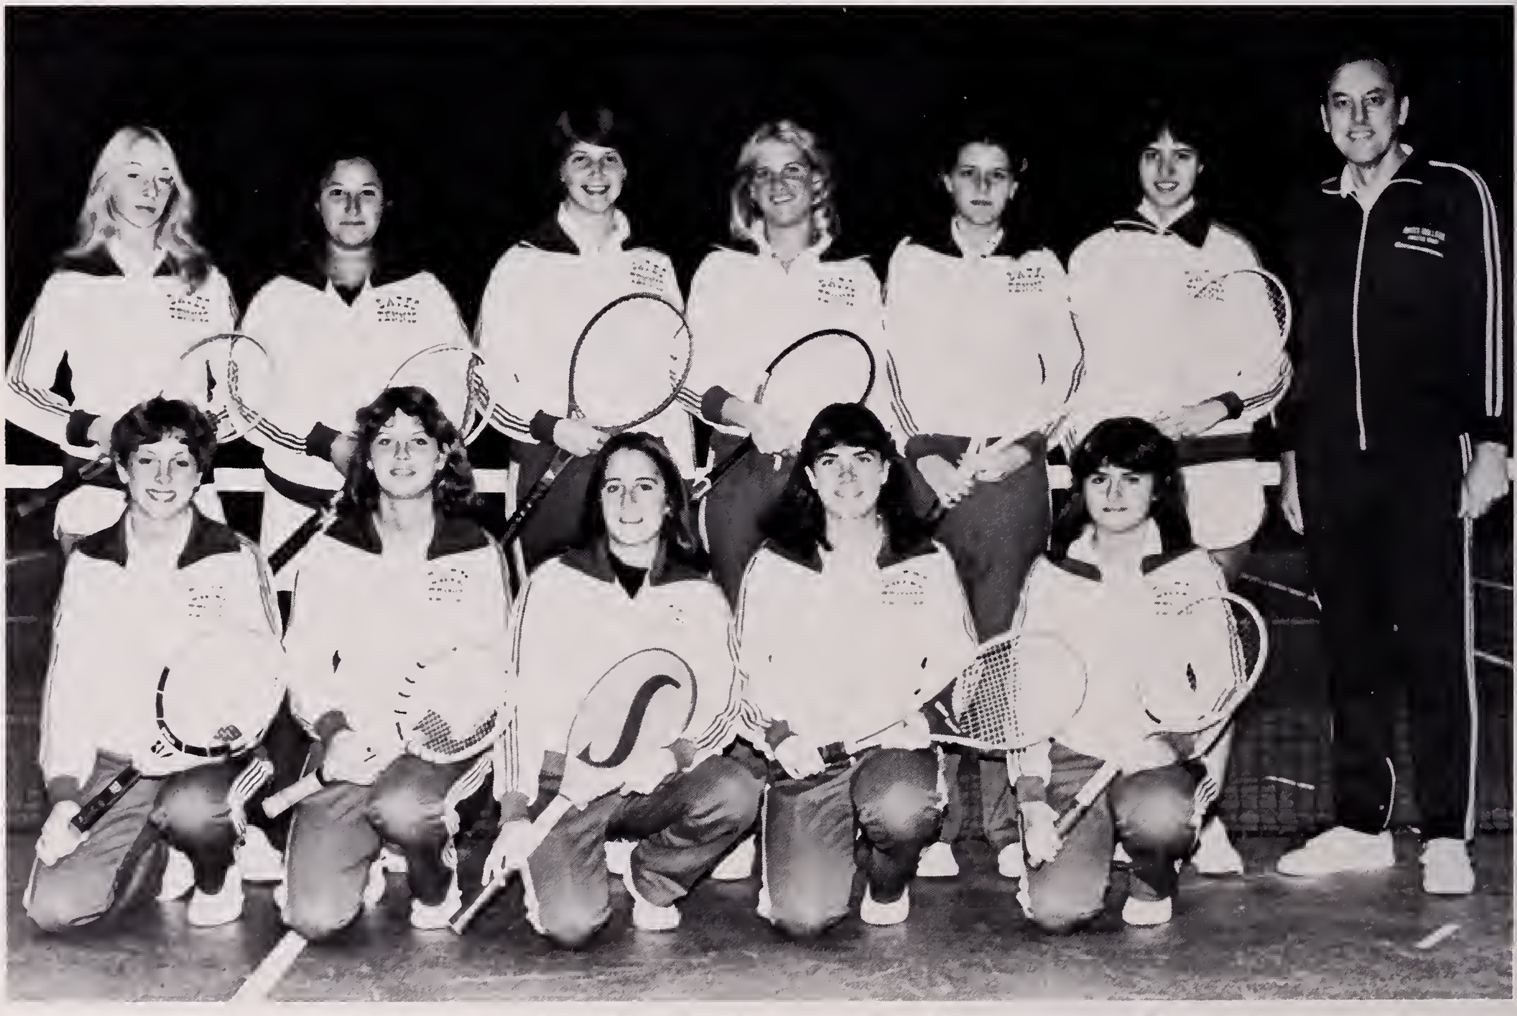
WOMEN'S TENNIS

The Women's Tennis team, coached this year by George Wigton, finished its 1981 season with a record of five wins and eight losses; however, five of the thirteen matches were lost by only one point. Returning strength from the class of '84 included Pam French, Steffani Catanese, Eileen Conners and Jennifer Cogan. New freshman talent included Kat MacDonald and Susan Fairbank.

In the M.A.I.A.W. Championships, Catanese placed third in singles for Bates and captain Pam French won the singles consolation round. Losing only one player, senior Susan Smith, the young team looks forward to a promising future.



Front Row: I. Hanford, J. Cogan, S. Catanese, E. Conners, S. Fairbank. Back Row: B. Koetter, S. Smith, P. French, P. Bowers, M. Scully, N. Young, Coach G. Wigton.

MEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

For the first time in a dozen years, the Men's Cross-Country team finished with a losing record. A number of injuries among the top performers resulted in a lack of depth. Senior captain Paul Hammond, previous All-American, was one of those sidelined due to injury; his talent will be sorely missed after closing out a truly remarkable career. Also, the man who could run forever, Mark Dorion, has graduated after performing superbly for Bates.

However, the future of Bates Cross-Country looks promising because the squad consists of a core of underclassmen who will develop with each year. Peter Weyand '83 will be back in 1982 to complete his eligibility; other key harriers returning next season will be sophomores Ken O'Regan, Fred Turkington, and Len Morley. Despite the 4-5-1 record (including a one-point loss to Amherst and a tie with U. of New Brunswick), the overall history of Bates X-Country still sparkles — it stands at 215 wins, 60 loses and 3 ties since it joined the intercollegiate ranks in 1958 under present coach, Walt Slovenski.

WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

The 1981 women's cross-country team, under the leadership of Coach Carolyn Court and Pam Fessenden '83, finished with a fine 13-4 record. Outstanding performances by a talented group of freshmen including Rebecca Watt, Nancy Bell, Justina Alsfeld, and Becky Jones, contributed to a successful campaign. A victory in the CBB Championship, a second place finish in the state of Maine meet and fifth place overall at the New England Division III's are among the squad's accomplishments. Returning lettermen Karen Palermo '84 and Fessenden provided experience and made valuable contributions to the Bobcats in every race. Rebecca Watt '85 culminated a superb individual season, finishing eighth in the New England Championships and becoming Bates' first woman All-American one week later, a result of her fine tenth place finish at the NCAA National meet.

VOLLEYBALL

The 1981 Volleyball Team started out this season with a combination of steady veteran players as well as new talent. With a predominantly in-state schedule the Bobcats, coached by Donna Turnbaugh, dominated many tournaments early in the season. Plagued with injuries mid-season, the squad did well holding together and went into the State Tournament seeded third. The team finished the season third in the state with a record of 21-9. The 1981 MVP was Jeanine Grant '82 and she was also named to the second team All-State squad along with Jody Chumbook '85. Freshman Christie Gallier made the first string All-State team — a good sign of things to come.

WINTER SEMESTER

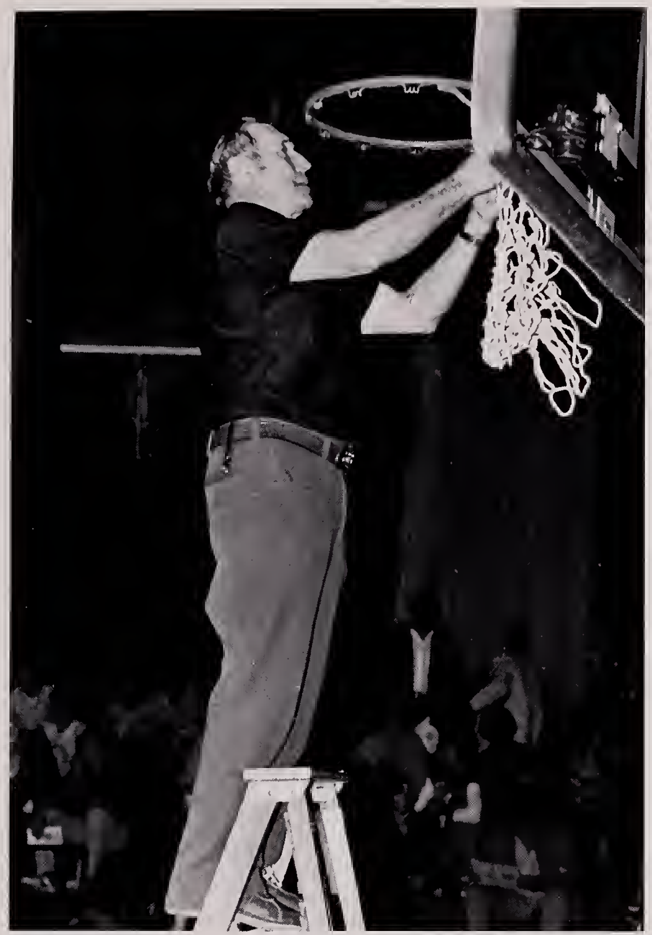
ROSSIGNOL



With visions of sugarplums still dancing in our heads, stumbling through the champagne-fueled mist of New Year's Eve, we returned to Bates to brave the snow, the cold, and the books. And was there ever snow! Cold, too. It wasn't long, however, before the frozen white stuff became a secondary consideration, and we were all back on the academic track . . .

Republican Congressman David Emery spoke in a symposium on Reaganomics, priming himself for a run at a seat in the U.S. Senate . . . Courtney Earley, '83, performed the first noonday concert of 1982, accompanied by Profs. Mary Hunter and James Parakilas . . . We'd hardly been here a week when Winter Carnival opened with the annual Torch Run from Augusta, its last leg, as always, through Commons . . . The Outing Club gave this year's carnival one of its best efforts ever with its "Golden Age of Hollywood" theme . . . 143 Wood Street House won the snow sculpture contest with their representation of W. C. Fields . . . The Film Board contribution included Oklahoma, The Sting, and The Tramp . . . The Robinson Players presented "Zoo Story" in a dinner theater; it starred Erin Russell and Kristina Swanson, both class of '83 . . . Poet Mitchell Goodman read some of his own works, and Hot Acoustics played a coffeehouse in Fiske Lounge . . . Across the street at Lewiston Junior High, jazz guitarist Pat Metheny, accompanied by Charlie Haden and Jack DeJohnette, improvised for a full house . . . The puddle sparkled for a skating party and bonfire . . . CHC sponsored a punch contest to decide what to serve at the Winter Carnival ball that night — the real winners were the committee members who got to taste all the potions . . . Roomful of Blues provided the music . . . Rand Hall followed tradition and hosted a beer-and-cartoons breakfast in the lower lounge . . . The Winter Olympics gave us athletics with a sense of humor; events included tobogganing and traying down the slopes of Mt. David, the dogtrek pull and snow snake in Rand Field, and cross-country skiing across the Quad . . . Commons offered a candlelight dinner . . . The weekend came to a close with the riotous first visition of hypnotist Russ Burgess.

The Reaganomics symposium continued with Democratic Senator George Mitchell, preparing his defense of the Senate position he acquired from Bates alumnus Edmund Muskie . . . John Shimko and piano delighted a noonday concert audience . . . Word leaked out that students should prepare for a 17% increase in tuition costs for next year . . . Bates opened its first-ever Energy Week; Hedge Hall held a caulking party and the dorms competed to use less energy per resident . . . The R. C. in Roger Bill resigned . . . The Student ran an indepth report on the lack of grade inflation at Bates — no news to the students . . . Intramural basketball attracted 36 teams, assuring that the season would last almost forever . . . Senior Brian Flynn premiered a play of his writing and direction, entitled "Reach" . . . A survey found Budweiser the most-drunk beer on campus, but named Molson as the best-liked . . . . Consuming most of the energy saved through conservation and competition, most of the Bates population stayed awake all night for WRBC's Trivia Night — its very first, as those who heard the last question discovered too late; the Motley Group, centered in Parsons House, won the contest.

Rich Emrich, '84, Miriam Smith, '85, and Prof. Eric Wollman played a noonday concert . . . Energy Week continued as Prof. David Haines kicked off a series of lectures, speaking on energy conservation in the public sector . . . Dean James Carignan emceed an energy fashion show wearing a bright-red, knee-length nightshirt . . . The O.C.C. held a career night for upperclassmen, for whom the job market seemed all too close . . . The alumni-jayvee basketball game was no picnic for the underclassmen; it featured such prolific scorers of yesteryear as Tom Burhoe and Bud Schultz.

Playwright Wendy Wasserstein headlined the Goldston Event for 1982 . . . Melissa Hibbert, '84, performed the noonday concert on piano . . . The student-faculty happy hour was well-attended . . . Dr. Margaret Clark talked about "Sexism in the Health Professions: Nurses and Doctors" . . . The Rocky Horror Picture Show returned to Bates for the fourth time; imitation Frank N. Furters crammed the Filene Room . . . The Impulse Dance Company of Boston led a master class in the A.F.E.B. studio, then thrilled an audience in Schaeffer Theatre.

Tuition for 1982-83 was fixed officially at $10,500, provoking questions of the true worth of a college education . . . Students breathed a sight of relief when President Reagan announced that he would not send troops to El Salvador . . . John Aime, '82, led what he called a rally against theme living, asking students in Commons to "let it be known" how they felt about the subject.

The Portland School of Ballet presented a lecture-demonstration the theater . . . Chris Young, '82, played the organ for a noonday concert . . . T. Hedley Reynolds tried to define for students his position as president and fund-raiser . . . Having returned from Semester at Sea, senior Jeff Shuman gave a slide show of his adventure . . . Edward La Sala, of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, spoke on "Drugs: Their Psychological Effect."

Colleen Martin, '85, on clarinet and Prof. James Parakilas on piano performed another in the continuing series of noonday concerts . . . In a Chapel Board-sponsored luncheon seminar, Prof. Joe Pellicia addressed the topic of genetic influences on cancer . . . "Mimagery" matched mime to music for a Cafe des Arts . . . The Robinson Players appeared again with two one-act plays: "Bringing it all Back Home" by Terrence McNally and "The Respectful Prostitute: by Jean-Paul Sartre . . . Treat Gallery opened a new show, entitled "Art Teachers' Art."

You just have to believe that people should be able to live together."

Frank Glazer once again entertained us in a noonday concert . . . The New York Times Selective Guide to Colleges had good things to say about Bates, rating it equal with Bowdoin and ahead of Colby . . . A soon-to-be-controversial budget process began when the R. A. received some $85,000 to dole out to student organizations . . . A new distribution system for limited enrollment courses jammed Chase Hall instead of Lane Hall . . . The Dean's Office finally paid attention to student opinion and axed the idea of theme living; at the same time, the deans planned to expand the freshman center to sections of Parker and Adams.

In sports, Bates hosted the EAIAW track championship and finished fifth; the Bobcat women were placed by senior Donna Broadway's three first place finishes, including a school record 17'6" in the long jump . . . Larry DiGiammarino, forgetting that the football season had ended several months earlier, became the ECAC Division III football player of the year . . . The Hockey team, supported in its late-night ventures by a small but spirited and loyal band of fans, became the Northeast Small College League champions . . . Fred Criniti fell just short of 1000 career points as the basketball team ended a tough-luck season.

The Guarneri String Quartet closed out the Concert Series . . . Norman Mason presented "An Evening of Ragtime" . . . "Songs of Our Own," an original play by Richard Wood, '82, made its debut in a stage reading in Chase Lounge . . . History professor David Gassman resigned loudly, declaring that the college "does not place as strong an emphasis on excellence as I would" . . . Also announcing his departure — tentatively — to graduate school was popular man-about-campus and Assistant Dean James Reese; later, he decided to stay a while longer . . . Armed with a list of most-desired rooms, underclassmen faced the annual housing lottery . . . Bates' varsity debate duo of Joyce White, '82, and Steve Dolley, '84, captured the New England championship . . . Casino Night transported us to Monte Carlo for a night's gambling; in reality, we played poker, blackjack, faro, and baccarat upstairs in Chase Hall . . . The Gay-Straight Alliance reappeared . . . The number of applicants from which Bates would choose the class of 1986 totaled 2330 . . . Irreverent comedian John Belushi, star of TV's Saturday Night Live and the movie Animal House, died suddenly . . . The RA fought a long, hard battle over the budget for 1982-83 — proposals that cut money meant vociferous opposition. It proved a tortuous process: the RA first rejected the budget committee's offer, then accepted a revised budget, only to have the Extracurricular Activities Committee shoot it down for failure to follow parliamentary procedures. In the budget's next appearance before the Assembly, the group rejected it again, leaving a final decision until September.

The Dean's Office investigated a possible fraud in the lottery . . . "Sky High," featuring '81 grad Bob Whytock on keyboards, returned after almost a year's absence . . . The Bates Modern Dance Company presented "Close Encounters and Near Misses," two programs over four nights of student-choreographed pieces . . . Original musical compositions by students had their debut at a "Concert of New Music" . . . The weather had just started to get warm when a spring storm blanketed Lewiston with 12 inches of snow.

Novice debaters Glenn Graham, '85, and Jim Ellis, '84, posted a record of 6-2 to finish third in the National Novice Championship Tournament in Detroit . . . L. L. Bean's of Freeport gave $250,000 in scholarship funds to each of the CBB schools . . . Senator Mitchell spoke on nuclear weaponry . . . Before we knew it, final exams were upon us again, and again we immersed ourselves in last-minute studying . . . Then the semester was done and gone, and we headed home for a longer-than-normal break before Short Term, whether back at Bates or abroad.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

A late-season, four game winning streak gave the Bobcats their final 7-12 record. Freshman Monique Petty paced the offense with a team-high 40 field goals and 212 total points. Laura Hollingsworth, '83, made 40 per cent of her field goal attempts and grabbed more rebounds than any other teammate. Half the team had free throw averages of .500 or better, and the squad raised over $800 in a free throw "shoot-a-thon" for charity. Senior captain Dorothy Alpert captured the team record for career assists and finished third all-time in points. Other talented hoopsters were seniors Debra Post and Colleen Collins, and freshman Paula Pomponi.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

The 1982 men's basketball team ended a disappointing season with a record of 5 wins and 18 losses. Highlighting the winter were successive victories over third-ranked Salem State and tenth-ranked Connecticut College. The season was the culmination of three fine careers; senior guards Fred Criniti and John Kirby, and center Rob Dodson, all played an integral part of the basketball program for four years.

Captain Criniti led the team in scoring, falling just eighteen points short of the 1000 point level for his four years, and shared assist honors with sophomore standout Herb Taylor. Dodson led the Bobcats in rebounding, and Kirby was the strong hold on the defense. In addition, to Taylor, juniors Bob Michel and Dan Wrenn will be expected to lead next year's team.

MEN'S TRACK

An ambitious dual meet schedule yielded a season record of only 6 wins and 7 losses, but the tracksters made up for it at the Maine state championships (2d) and the New England Division III meet (3d). Individual New England champions: Paul Hammond, '82, in the 3000-meter run, and Paul Slovenski in a record-setting pole vault of 14'4". The distance medley team of Hammond, senior Ed O'Neil, junior Doug Quintal, and soph Fred Turkington set a school record of 10:07. Brian House, '83, and John MacPhee, '84, made a tough one-two combo in the dash and hurdles. Other standouts included middle distance runner Steve Deperna, '83; jumpers Dan Watson, '83, and Dave Donahue, '84; and weightman Steve Ryan, '83.

WOMEN'S TRACK

A lack of depth and not a lack of quality hampered Coach Carolyn Court's team, as the squad's 5th place finish at the EAIAW Division III championships shows. Powerhouse for the Bobcats throughout the season was senior Donna Broadway, a consistent winner in the dashes and the long jump, and anchor for the short relays. She shared top point-getting honors with distance runner Nancy Bell, '85. The shot put record fell this winter to rookie Jody Chumbook.

For the first time in Bates skiing history, the team picked up NCAA points, courtesy of co-captain Tom Hathaway's 41st place finish in the 15 km. at Lake Placid. The team as a whole captured 8th spot at the Eastern Division I championships.

Cross-country racers included soph Joel Page and freshmen Dan MacDonald, Sam Smith, and Joe Zaia. Among the team's alpinists were co-captain Chris Menzel, juniors Randy Hoder and Vic Ottley, and sophomore Dave DeSantis.

WOMEN'S SKIING

Consistency proved the strong point for the women's ski team, which took seventh or eighth place at each of the weekly carnivals, and placed 8th at the Eastern Division I championship. Captains Kristen Silcox and Cheryl Willey won the Lux award this year. Nordic specialists included sophomores Sue Frankenstein and Laura Hackett, and freshmen Arline Poisson and Judy Kohin; downhillers were juniors Kathy Belluci and Sue Willey, sophomore Grace Samolis, and rookies Suzi Kopp and Jennifer O'Brien.

SHORT TERM

Short Term began on a Wednesday this year, making the final semester two days short of its normal six weeks; that first week disappeared very quickly . . . Most of the overseas classes had departed already; the total number of off-campus units: 13 . . . Everybody came ready for the change of pace: with frisbees flying almost incessantly, the entire campus became a golf course for the laid-back; sunny days gave Bates the appearance of St. Tropez at the height of the vacation season, as Batesies lazed amid the scent of coconut oil and the music of WRBC on the various campus "beaches" — those with wheels made pilgrimages to Range Pond or the slightly more distant Atlantic Ocean . . . Business at Cote's Old Fashioned Ice Cream picked up dramatically.

Activities got underway on the first day: in the afternoon, three varsity sports — baseball, men's lacrosse, and men's tennis — drew spectators to Garcelon Field; that night, Profs. and poets John Tagliabue and Robert Chute celebrated "A Spirit of Place," the richness and continuity of "200 Years of Maine Poetry," at the Auburn Public Library . . . The first luncheon speaker, Richard Dudman of the World Affairs Council of Maine, gave us an "Inside Look at Pol Pot's Cambodia" . . . While Dudman spoke, Frank Glazer performed a program of music for the piano entitled "Music Involving People to People" . . . Chute and Tagliabue brought poetry to Chase Lounge . . . Treat Gallery put the paintings of Florence Vincent

Robinson on display, for the duration of Short Term . . . On Saturday, the Citizen's for Historic Preservation's annual meeting featured architectural historian Richard Condee, architect Chris Graff, and Executive Director of the Maine Historical Preservation Society Earl Shettleworth; their topic: Maine Historical Houses in Crisis — New Strategies for Survival . . . Feminist poet E. J. Graff read her works during brunch in the Rowe Room . . . Nostalgia buffs Sunday night listened to Rene and Maria Rancourt perform melodies from the Nelson Eddy-Jeanette MacDonald mode and era, in Schaeffer Theatre . . . Meanwhile, Schooner Fare played energetic ballads, salty tunes, and instrumentals in the Chapel.

During the second week of Short Term, we had two multi-night programs, both beginning on Tuesday . . . Spy flick fans flocked to the Filene Room for a James Bond film festival; the movies were Dr. No, Goldfinger and The Man With the Golden Gun . . . Dozens of students went "on the line" for the first annual Student-Alumni Phonathon. It lasted four nights and raised a total of $25,000 for Bates; one alum made a pledge of $600 . . . The "Films on Works" series presented "The Fight Against Black Monday" and "It's Not Working" . . . Bill Carpenter of the College of the Atlantic read aloud in Chase Lounge . . .

The Red Cross returned for a final blood drive . . . The senior class held the first of several Wednesday events, a barbeque on the steps of Coram . . . Students and others indulged themselves in a wine appreciation course, to be held on four consecutive Wednesdays . . . Thursday night, we saw "Revolution or Death," a film on El Salvador . . . Friday's entertainment: a dance in Chase Lounge with "Crossroads" . . . Escapism on Saturday: a bus to Boston, or a British Invasion Dance.

The "Works" series continued with "What's Good for GM" . . . We heard more poetry, recited this time by Kathleen Lignell of the Univ. of Maine at Orono . . . The second Wednesday event appeared in the form of a hat party behind Adams . . . A Thursday afternoon student-faculty reception hour took place on the Den terrace and featured folk artists . . . Dr. Michael Tofani of Physicians for Social Responsibility presented "The Last Epidemic — The Medical Consequences of Nuclear War" and led discussion afterward . . . Almost everybody journeyed to Popham Beach for the Short Term edition of the Clambake; on a cool but sunny

READ FOR THE MOUNTAINS
BUSCH

Saturday afternoon, we chowed on lobster, clams, and burgers, and enjoyed volleyball and other beach sports. Several venturesome souls tested the water . . . On Sunday, Melissa Hibbert, '84, and Bob Carr, '82, presented an evening of popular music and show tunes in a Cafe des Arts.

James Cheek, of the Harvard Center of International Affairs and senior foreign service officer with the State Dept., faced a panel of five to explain the situation in El Salvador and US interests there . . . Marcie Plavin's dancers performed "Babar the Elephant" on the library terrace, to the delight of adults as well as kids . . . The 3d Wednesday event actually happened on Thursday; they called it "Midnight Madness" . . . Terry Plunkett of UMA read poetry . . . College chaplains Richard Crocker, Frank Morin, and Victor Reinstein hosted a discussion on abortion . . . Maine artists Tom Levesque and Pat Hussey played a folk music coffeehouse in Skelton . . . Accompanied by Frank Glazer, students in the music Short Term units performed a variety of musical works . . . Writer/poet Denis Ledoux told us about "Growing up Franco-American: Family Life in the Works of Alfred Poulin, David Plante, and Jack Kerouac" . . . The Robinson Players went on stage one last time, along with the audience, with Ira Levin's "Veronica's Room" . . . Jim Henderson, '82, and Christine Henderson played violin and piano . . . Memorial Day weekend brought the 3rd Annual Frisbee Golf Tournament, part of the Quad party that rainy weather moved inside. Festivities included beer chugging relays and an ice cream sundae-eating contest.

We heard one last poet, James Bishop of UMO . . . The "Works" series concluded with "The Mondragon Experiment" . . . The Blues Brothers and the Rolling Stones stopped at Chase Lounge for a few minutes of hilarity . . . Three college buildings continued to undergo renovations or additions: Fiske Lounge got chopped up in the Rand reconstruction; craftsman Hellmuth Wolff directed the installation of a gorgeous new organ in the Chapel; and the library staff stepped up the pace of moving books, etc., around their building — not a single item would remain in its old location.

The seniors celebrated their final week at Bates, and official recognition of their accomplishments began on Thursday at the senior-faculty dinner in Commons. Tom Campbell told us, "At Bates, we didn't just learn something, we had an exciting educational adventure, one which we will continue." Later that night, we danced in Chase Lounge . . . Friday, the Montagnard Club hosted the senior outing; members of the class of 1982 cooked on open grills, played cards, tossed or hit several sizes of balls, or lounged with a beer . . . During the weekend, seniors and their families packed local restaurants; parties went on almost without end . . . After a graduation rehearsal in a mild drizzle, everybody crowded into Commons for a late champagne brunch . . . Sunday afternoon, we gathered in front of Parker, in no particular order, with cameras aplenty, then marched into the Chapel for the baccalaureate ceremony. Afterward, we trooped to Chase Hall to dedicate the class stone and plant an ivy plant; Cole Tamminen read a poem he had written for the occasion, and class president Neil Jamieson led us in singing the alma mater. The day's final event was the President's reception underneath the library . . . A Midnight Madness party left many a little weak-kneed Monday morning, but we held our heads high for our graduation in the Gym. Charlayne Hunter-Gault called for "tough minds and tender hearts," and Deans James Carignan and John Cole teamed up to confer the degrees . . . And after four years of hard work and good times that suddenly seemed much too quickly departed, we were gone.

SOFTBALL

The talented starting line-up and strong bench of the 1982 softball team combined to produce a record of 10 wins, 4 losses. Under the direction of Coach Sherry Yakawonis and co-captains Dorothy Alpert and Ann-Marie Caron, the Bobcats captured the CBB title and finished second in the Maine state tournament.

Georgeanna Ebersold, '85, sparkled for the offense; in addition to a .434 batting average, she led the team in RBIs (11), total bases (27), and stolen bases (11). Joining her above the .300 mark at the plate were seniors Alpert, Janet Bursaw, and Jill Valentine (9 walks), and soph Carla Fitzgerald (team's only HR).

On the mound, Betsy Whitman, '83, had 7 victories with 22 strikeouts and 23 walks; fellow starter Sandy Beal, '84, posted a 3-1 record. Senior Kathy Scanlon pitched well in relief.

Front Row: J. Harrington, S. Beal, V. Rich, D. Alpert (co-capt.), A. Caron (co-capt.), J. Valentine, K. Scanlon, L. Belmont. Back Row: Coach S. Yakawonis, J. Bursaw, G. LeBlanc, M. Petty, J. BASEBALL

The 1982 baseball team completed a highly successful season thanks to great hitting power, a tight defense, and timely pitching. Runner-up status to Massachusetts Maritime at the E.C.A.C. championship capped a final record of 16 wins against 7 losses. Chick Leahey and Bob Flynn provided the coaching and shared leadership with senior tri-captains Pete McEvilly, Larry DiGiammarino, and Jeff Dupree.

Batting posed no problem for the Bobcats, who averaged 8 runs per game and hit .290 as a team. Junior first baseman John Gregorio's .397 average and 21 RBI's paced the squad; DiGiammarino and McEvilly, and sophomore Jim Sylvia also topped the .300 mark. All the pitchers finished with winning records, though the Cat's ace on the mound was Rob Sprague, '82, who tallied 4 wins and 1 loss, a 2.59 ERA, and 5 saves. Senior stalwarts Scott Anderson and Jeff Andrews missed action for most of the season because of injuries.

MEN'S LACROSSE

Coach Harrison's Men's Lacrosse team had a 5-6 record for the 1982 season, but a few memorable games made the squad's efforts worthwhile. A thrilling come-from-behind home victory over M.I.T. avenged last year's loss in Cambridge, while a dramatic 9-8 squeaker at Colby marked the first season in which Bates defeated the Mules twice.

Senior co-captain, Dave Scheetz, led the offense, despite being the focus of every opponent's defense. Jeff Melvin, senior co-captain, anchored a strong backfield corp. Both men were selected for the Senior East-West All Star Game; Scheetz will graduate as Bates' all-time leading scorer.

The team's performance was hindered by injuries to key players such as sophomore Dave Hild and freshman Andy Morehouse. Fortunately, the experience of seniors Kraig Haynes, Jud Hale, John Hassan, Dede Soeharto, and Ken Swan along with the rest of the 1982 squad kept Bates Lacrosse headed in the right direction.

WOMEN'S LACROSSE

The Bobcats outscored their opponents by 17 points over the course of the season and ended with an improved record of 5-6. Senior captain Mary Ellen Bell posted 30 interceptions and a record 52 pick-ups. Junior and captain-elect Carolyn Campbell tallied 31 interceptions, highest on the team. Senior forward Donna DeFerro led all scorers with 30 points, including 5 assists; she shot 40% from the field. Other standouts were backfielder Laura Radack, '82, middle Laurie Sevigny, '83, and Anne Dillon, '82, up front. Frosh goalies Karla Austen and Kathryn Sweeney played well in their position, while 15 of classmate Becky Roak's shots-on-goal found their target.

MEN'S TENNIS

For the first time the team played a split season, winning matches in the fall against Maine and a tough Clark squad, then making 6 of 8 in the spring to post an overall record of 8-2. Coach George Wigton's crew proved themselves best in the state by winning the annual tournament.

Hard-working soph Bert Cole led the Bobcats with 21 wins and 6 losses, a one-season record topped only by '81 grad Bud Schultz's 23 victories. Cole won the state single title and qualified with the NCAA Division III championship, where he fell in the first round. In doubles competition, Cole and John Luyrink, '85, lost only 3 matches in 13. By himself, Luyrink amassed 14 wins and only 5 losses.

Capt. Brad Bjorkland, '83, played third for the 'Cats and finished the season at 12-5. The only senior, Tom Pariser, filled the team's fourth slot.

OUTDOOR TRACK

After a short season, the Bobcats sent two athletes to the NCAA Division III championships. Paul Hammond, '82, ran quickly enough to finish 6th in the 5000-meter run, while junior Steve Ryan landed his javelin in 7th place.

Front Row: Coach W. Slovenski, K. O'Regan, G. Kennedy, E. O'Neil, P. Hammond (capt.), A. Waitt, J. Mulholland, D. Quintal, B. House, J. Foley. Middle Row: J. Gallant, B. Ingersoll, J. Raitt, A. GOLF

The 1982 golf team was somewhat of a disappointment. Perennial powers Babson, Bentley, and MIT overwhelmed the young Bates golfers, who finished the short season with a 2-7 record in individual competition. Their only two victories came against Clark the Bowdoin. The Bowdoin win and a loss to Colby gave the 'Cats second place in the CBB triangle. Seniors Greg Pizzo (capt.) and Joe Gardner led the squad, aided by Chris Flaherty and Bob MacKinnon, also class of '82. Freshman Mark Fleming played promisingly also.

The team also took part in post season tournaments, beginning with the New England Intercollegiate Spring Golf Championship, held at New Seabury Country Club on Cape Cod; in poor weather, and Bobcats stumbled, finishing in the second half of the 40 team field. A few days later, Bates journeyed to Cape Arundel, ME for the State Championship, ending up seventh in team standings; Pizzo fired a 79 there to finish eleventh individually, while Gardner and Fleming shot in the mid-80's. At the NESCAC's in Middlebury, VT, though faltering in the second round, Gardner and Pizzo each hit 81.

Front Row: M. Rees, M. Fleming, G. Pizzo (capt.), J. Gardner. Back Row: Coach R. Hatch, C. Flaherty, R. Bennett, R. MacKinnon, D. Erickson, D. Ladd.
